

Virtual School Programs

When students can't interact in person, we're here to help bring them together online.

We see adventure as a state of being, not just a state of doing. An experience becomes an adventure when a feeling of surprise, excitement, or risk exists. We know how to invoke adventure even when we are physically apart. Our professional development helps educators design online and in-person experiences that create growth and connection. While we are changing our delivery method, the essence of Project Adventure will not be lost. Our trainers will assist you through the unique teaching challenges presented in this trying time.

Challenges schools are encountering...

- Engagement and connection with students in an on-line setting
- Professional development for teachers
 - Adventure-based SEL
 - Adventure in the Classroom
 - Challenge course operations
- Clarity in how and when to conduct in-person adventure education safely and effectively
- Productive and engaged faculty meetings
- Sense of belonging to the school community (remotely and in-person)

PA facilitates...

- Experiential and fun training to create classes students want to attend
- Remote learning to prepare for technical operations, facilitation or classroom-based teaching when conditions allow
- Industry best practices for new COVID protocols for safe challenge course operations
- Remote facilitation, professional development and meeting support
- Creative ways to stay connected to students that make for stronger relationships, now and when the crisis ends

Our consultants utilize a variety of entirely online or blended learning platforms to meet your group's needs.

Blended learning opportunities combine the strengths of online "live" sessions, individual/small group "work at your own pace" projects, and short practical and technical sessions that can be done at your site or ours.

Who can benefit:

- K-12 classroom and specialist teachers
- Administrators and counselors
- Therapeutic staff and programs
- Higher Education: student associations, residential life, athletics
- Out-of-School Time programs

What it looks like...

- Experiential and interactive
- Blended and integrated: online and asynchronous
- Use of collaborative Ed Tech platforms
- Explores theory and practice
- Customized for your needs

Call 978.524.4501 or email info@pa.org to begin the planning process for your virtual adventure!

